A FIGHT!

Enlivens Affairs at Lafayette

And Springs Directly From the Quarrel Between Profs. Smith and Smart, of Purdue.

Civil Service Commissioner Edgerton Explains Why Women Do Not Succeed.

THE WAY TO DO IT.

A Cincinnati Journalist "Does Up" an Ex-Mayor and Editor.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 29.—W. R. Story, of the Cincinnati Graphic, who has been here for weeks illustrating for that journal most beautifully whipped and did up Col. F. E. D. McGinley, ex-mayor of our city, and editor of the Sunday Morning Times. Col. W. McGinley began abusing Story at the Bramble house, and followed him up cursing him, when Story turned on him and dressed the colonel down most gently. The fuss grew out of what Story is alleged to have said to Professor Smith about President Smart's being the author of a publication in the Times of a certain communication on the Purdue University trouble.

President Smart treats the controversy with contempt and the trustees of Purdue university, to whom Professor E. E. Smith appealed for an investigation as to the reasons for his removal from the faculty, have notified him that they will not accede to his request. The trustees say that "it is proper to state that the board did not act upon charges, and that no charges were made against you, and no criticisms have ever been made in the presence of the board, or either of us, concerning your private character or ability. We thus concede in this statement all the benefit that could possibly accrue to you by an investigation, and hence such a procedure becomes unnecessary." Professor Melville Anderson, of Galesburg, Ill., has been appointed to succeed Professor Smith.

NO SHOW FOR WOMEN.

Civil Service Commissioner Edgerton Explains Why More Are Not Appointed.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—"There are ten men sent for, for clerkships, to one woman," said Civil Service Commissioner Edgerton to-day. "In some of the departments absolutely no requisitions come to us for women, and very few are demanded anywhere. The result is that women stand almost no show at all to be appointed. A lady was appointed in the postoffice department from New York yesterday. Her standing was very high in every branch. In arithmetic it was 100; yet her name had been on our lists for a long time. Men readily get positions whose standing is no more than 90 per cent. on an average.

"How do you account for this state of things?" was asked.

"Oh, there is no real reason for it. It is more a matter of prejudice than anything else. Some chief of bureau or other officer has an incompetent woman sometime, or some woman that is troublesome, and so he will not try another. Then there is a feeling in certain quarters that if one happens to get an incompetent woman she is hard to get rid of; that she will bring influences to bear, and will perhaps shed tears. Then it is a little hard to tell a woman that she is unsatisfactory. The chiefs feel that a man will understand and take it as a man, but a woman will make a fuss; then, strange enough, there is a vast army of men pushing all the while for the small places that women usually get, and so, taking it in all, they stand a poor chance."

WHEREVER the slanderer is found, there humanity is arrayed against itself, and there the honey and the balm of life are turned to gall and nettles.

JUDGE DAVID DAVIS.

His Imposing Funeral this Afternoon.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., June 29.—Obsequies of the late David Davis occurred this afternoon. The services were arranged by the family in accord with the quiet, modest tastes of the deceased. Nevertheless so general was the mourning and so universal the desire to accord to the distinguished dead the last honors, the funeral assumed imposing proportions. The city is thronged with people and business is practically suspended. A special train brought Governor Oglesby and staff and 100 lawyers from Springfield, Decatur and Clinton.

There were many beautiful offerings for the casket, including a combination of leather palms from Mrs. Justice Hunt and a basket from the children of the state soldiers' orphan home. At 3 o'clock the services were held at the house. The officiating clergyman was Rev. W. G. Pierce, a relative of the family. The procession which followed the remains to the grave was of unusual length.

YACHT RACE.

The Sloops Have Another Contest.

BOSTON, June 29.—The Eastern yacht club regatta comes off at Marblehead to-day. The sky is cloudless and a good fresh wind is blowing from the west.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., June 29.—The yachts started at 12:20 p. m. The Priscilla crossed the line first, Fortuna second, Mayflower third and Puritan fourth. There is a very stiff breeze blowing from the west.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., June 29.—The Puritan won the yacht race by five minutes; Priscilla, second; May Flower, third.

PROHIBITION

Defeated by a Large Majority in Washington Territory.

CHICAGO, June 29.—A dispatch from Seattle, W. T., says that elections were held yesterday throughout the territory under the local option law with a large vote. Prohibition was defeated in Seattle by a majority of 1,030. All the larger towns in the territory except LaConner, Chehalis and Centralia give heavy majorities against prohibition.

ON GUARD.

Men of War to Watch the Fisheries.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 29.—The Prince Edward's Island department of the fisheries has ordered three government vessels to watch the fisheries there. The Conrad, Terror and Critic have been detailed for this service. The steamer Lansdowne will also be sent to the same post.

New Hampshire Democrats.

CONCORD, N. H., June 29.—At the democratic state convention, Col. Frank L. Noyes, of Nashua, was chosen president.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Wheat, @ 6c. higher; only moderately active. No. 2 red, July, 84@84½. Corn, quiet, steady, 35@50.

CHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO, June 29.—Wheat easy; cash 72½. Corn, steady, 34½. Oats, steady at 26½.

A RASCAL CAUGHT.

An Ex-Postmaster Arrested for Embezzlement and Theft.

Deputy Marshal Jim Wilkinson came in last night after a drive of sixty miles, with his game in the person of Henry J. Yoder, ex postmaster at Chalm, Elkhart county. Yoder is charged with embezzling $42.60 in cash, and $26.90 in stamps, about the time a change was made in the office up there. His successor, one Ellis, was also relieved shortly after his appointment and lives at Goshen under a cloud, as Yoder claims he gave him the money and stamps, but got no receipt. Yoder will have a trial at 2 o'clock, if District Attorney Lamb gets here as he promises he will.

A SMASHUP.

A Nickel Plate Freight and Gravel Train Embrace Each Other.

Just west of the city, near the Brookside farm, occurred a disastrous collision this morning. Engineer M. Gorham pulled the Nickel Plate gravel train west, believing that the morning freight train had passed. He proceeded but a short distance, however, when the carrier came around the curve and smashed into the gravel train on the incline there. Engineer W. P. Morris of the freight, leaped for his life, and the firemen and other engineer followed suit. The engines and a dozen cars were smashed, and a damage of $2,500 was entailed by the embrace of the iron monsters.

NANTUCKET OUT OF SEASON.

A Trip to the Cod Fishery—Clams for Bait—Amid the Breakers.

In May the cod fishermen are in possession, and it was to have a view of the fishery that we drove out. On the wide beach under the bluff, perhaps a score of narrow, sharp pointed dories were drawn up. Four more were saw rising and falling on the swells outside the line of breakers. "They are coming," said our friend as he hastened down to view the operation. A horse attached to a fish cart stood on the sand where a dozen bronzed and sturdy fishermen were watching the incoming boats.

Codfish strike in here between the middle and last of April, the pollock a little later. They are caught with hook and line, though on the south shore some trawls are set. The bait used is the long clam, which has to be brought from Tuckermuck and Muskeget islands, which lie to the westward of Nantucket. Gathering them forms the business of quite a number of the toilers who build little shanties on the islands and live there for days, digging clams between tides. By the time we have learned this the foremost boat has reached the breakers, and we watch anxiously to see how the boatman would get through without being swamped. Both skill and strength are required to effect this.

The orsman balanced his boat on the swells just outside the line of breakers and waited till the biggest of the "three brothers" came towering on, when he rode triumphantly in on its crest, being carried far up the strand where his waiting fellows seized the boat and ran it up beyond the reach of succeeding waves. The second and third did equally well, but the fourth miscalculated, and the prow of his boat dashed into the sand and was held in the midst of the surf. In a moment the succeeding wave pounded upon it, filled it and swept man, boat, fish and oars far up the beach. The man, however, gathered up the scattered cargo, emptied the dory by turning her over, and soon had her out of the waves' reach. Sometimes, in coming through the surf, the boats are thrown end over end.

The dories contain from twenty to thirty large cod and pollock, with an occasional ugly skate or big-mouthed sculpin. The cart is backed down to the boats, the cod and pollock are thrown in and carted to the cleaning and pickling room where, after being dressed and salted, they are dried on flakes in the sun, and marketed. Very little fresh fish is exported from the island, but the cured fish has the highest reputation of any in the market.—Cor. Detroit Free Press.

Description of the "Riot Gun."

When a Chicago dispatch saying that Inspector Bonfield had "received a sample riot gun" from a Connecticut firm was read by a Broadway gun dealer he said:

"It is a repeating shot-gun recently invented, and is very good weapon for the purpose. A short steel tube under the barrel holds six cartridges loaded with buckshot or any other size of shot. A small cylinder just right to take hold of with the hand is slipped over the cartridge tube, a steel rod running from it to the mechanism of the gun's breech. By sliding this grip piece along the cartridge tube and back to its place again a discharged shell is thrown out, a fresh cartridge inserted, and the gun cocked. Each cartridge holds an ounce and a quarter of buckshot. The six cartridges can be fired six times in three seconds. They are now in use by the express companies and postoffice agents in the west where road agents abound, and not equally by any weapon for demoralizing a gang of evil doers."

A Revolution in Gas-Lighting. An invention which, it is claimed by gas engineers, will revolutionize the present system of gas-lighting has just been perfected by Dr. Auer in the chemical laboratory of the Vienna university. Briefly described, the invention may be said to consist in rendering a cotton wick incombustible by impregnating it with a metallic liquid. Thus treated the wick, instead of burning, merely glows, emitting a radiance not unlike that of the electric light. The whole process is very simple; and the great advantage of the invention is that it may be applied to any gas-burner.—Chicago News.

A cess telegram was sent out from Toledo Saturday, on the authority of W. J. Craig, to the effect that he had purchased the Indianapolis Sentinel and would take possession July 1.

ALLO, K.!

The Lake Shore Freights are Labeled.

They Run Out of All the Chicago Yards Under Guard of Pinkerton Detectives.

A Small Fight Between Union and Non Union Men—Other Labor News.

OPERATIONS

Resumed by the Lake Shore Company This Morning.

CHICAGO, June 29.—The Lake Shore Railroad company began operations at 8 o'clock this morning, 250 police and Pinkerton men, the latter armed as on yesterday, with Winchester rifles, taking possession of the Forty-third street switching yards. By 9 o'clock two long freight trains had been made up and started south, strongly guarded, but met no molestation. At 10 o'clock a Pinkerton squad accompanied a switch engine to the Union stock yards to get a train of live stock.

A SMALL FIGHT.

CHICAGO, June 29.—A hand to hand combat occurred this morning between some union and non-union men, at the new Jacobs building. The non-unionists, fourteen in number, have been at work for the last few days finishing odd jobs. The unionists held a meeting last night, and determined to put their enemies to flight. They accordingly appeared on the scene this morning with clubs and stones, and succeeded in frightening the non-union men, but they were driven away by the police before anything serious occurred. One of the rioters, named Boscer, was arrested and when brought before Justice Scully, he was fined $25.00.

At noon trains were being made up at the Forty-third street and Englewood yards and sent out as usual. Each train was guarded by ten or twelve Pinkerton men who were armed with Winchester. A freight train was made up at the stock yards during the forenoon and sent east without interference.

ANOTHER ATTACK.

CHICAGO, June 29.—Another savage assault on non-union carpenters occurred this forenoon at Jefferson, northwest of the city. A squad of union men invaded a house where five men were working and handled all roughly, a workman named McKean, sixty-five years old, being seriously injured. During the affray a contractor named Ballargeon was struck with a sharp implement and his right ear severed from his head.

NAIL FACTORY

To Resume Work Under the new Scale of Prices.

PITTSBURG, June 29.—Jones & Laughlin's nail factory will be put in operation to-day, after being idle thirteen months. This is the first factory started under the scale arranged by the Amalgamated association last Friday. They will employ about twenty nailers and sixty-five feeders, besides heaters, rollers and packers.

The window glass factories of the country will shut down to-morrow night, that being the date framed for the regular summer suspension.

HE IS ELOQUENT.

Gladstone's Appeal for Home Rule.

LONDON, June 29.—Mr. Gladstone in the course of his speech at Liverpool yesterday, said: "I entreat you to resolve that the civilized world shall no longer assert that Ireland is England's Poland and to determine that England shall no longer have a Poland. She has had it long enough. Listen to prudence, courage and honor. Ring out the old, ring in the new. Ring out the notes of memory and discord. Ring in the blessed reign of a time of peace."

CHOICE BITS.

The News That is Culled for the "Sentinel" Readers.

Governor Gray last evening remitted the fine of Mrs. Malinda Dennis, who was given three months in jail and fined $500 for stabbing her husband. She found her home at Richmond deserted.

Mr. W. J. Smith, who lives three miles southeast of Larwill, while returning from the field, and while walking in the middle of the road, toward his house, was struck and instantly killed by lightning.

W. D. Bailey, of Bohemian oats notoriety, has been arrested by the authorities of Tennessee, by order of Marshal Fletcher, of Winchester, who went there and brought him back, lodging him safely behind the bars, where he will await further orders from Michigan City.

The republicans of DeKalb county have nominated for representative, J. D. Leighty; clerk, A. C. Bishop, auditor, C. Sullivan; sheriff, K. Garrison; treasurer, J. L. Davis; recorder, C. M. Crane; coroner, Dr. J. B. Casebeer; surveyor, Frank McDowal; commissioners C. Bowman and James Plattor.

Jesse T. Shoemaker, a son of John C. Shoemaker, died Sunday morning at Indianapolis, of Bright's disease at the age of twenty. The funeral took place to-day. Mr. Shoemaker was well known in Fort Wayne, and attended a reception given at the residence of Hon. Charles A. Manson last winter.

The board of county commissioners of Clarke county have made a full investigation of the charges made against County Treasurer Jacob Fry, to the effect that he as treasurer of said county is defaulter to the amount of $60,000, and have found that said charges are false in every particular.

Chairman Huston, of the republican state central committee, reports that the state convention will not be held prior to August 25, the general sentiment of the state favoring that late date. Meanwhile the committee will employ the interval in deluging the out districts with campaign literature, and in perfecting local organizations.

Mrs. Minnie Bachman, by her attorneys, Chase & Finkle, commenced suit in the Logansport circuit court yesterday against the St. Jacob's German Lutheran church, the pastor, John J. Jox, Henry Brookmyer sr., William Peters and Henry Paul to restrain them from ringing the Lutheran church bells. She has a sick daughter and aged father to base her objection on.

The sham battle to be given at Lafayette, Ind., July 31, during the encampment of the Indiana Legion and visiting companies, will be upon a scale never before attempted at a similar gathering in the state, and will exhibit the action and movements of troops under actual fire, with such a realistic effect that the onlookers will see war itself, save the actual flow of blood and consequent sacrifice of life.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Davis, of Gothen, gave their two-year old child chewing gum to keep it quiet. The child swallowed the gum, and was inexplicably sick for several days. It was seemingly very hungry, yet could not swallow. While suffering from a severe spell of vomiting the child expelled a large piece of chewing gum, and from that time the sickness passed away.

Professors Campbell and Coulter, of Wabash college, have camped out near Charlestown lake for the purpose of resuming their work on the geodetic survey now being made through the state of Indiana. Professor Campbell has had charge of the work for several years but only works in vacation. This survey is made to get an accurate measurement of the state's area, allowances being made for the curvature of the earth's surface.

The collections taken up at the Jones-Small meetings at Indianapolis amounted to $1,800 in round numbers. Of this Messrs. Jones and Small were paid $1,025, besides the board for themselves and associates at the Bates house, which amounted to $220. The hall rent was $375, and incidental expenses consumed the remainder.

District Attorney Lamb came back to Indianapolis from Terre Haute to-day. At the primaries there on Saturday all the delegates were elected who were for him for congress. He has carried every county in the district at the primaries except Vermillion, which has a candidate of its own, Judge Jump, although it is possible he will not go before the convention. Mr. Lamb is sure of the nomination, and is altogether sanguine that he will be elected.

In the house, Mr. Glover, of Missouri, moved to discharge the committee of investigation appointed under his resolution to inquire into the case against Lancaster, of Missouri.

Mr. Lowry opposed the motion and said Mr. Glover, in conversation, said he wanted the investigation to proceed.

Mr. Glover denied the conversation.

Mr. Lowry said it was a question of veracity, and hereafter he would have a witness to all intercourse with Mr. Glover.

The motion to discharge the committee was lost.

The report of the conference committee on the pension appropriation bill was agreed to.

The president has approved the act to legalize the corporation of national trades unions, the act granting a franking privilege to Julia D. Grant, an act to remove the political disabilities of J. G. Flowers of Mississippi, and ten miscellaneous bills, including a bill to pension the widow of Commodore A. A. Semmes. The president also vetoed two private pension bills.

Smith, assistant secretary of the treasury, has tendered his resignation, to take effect July 1 next, in order to accept the position of solicitor for the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railroad company. The president has selected as his successor Hon. Hugh Thompson, of South Carolina, and will send his nomination to the senate to-morrow. Mr. Thompson, it is said, is a man of ability and in entire accord with the president's policy on all questions.

Judge E. Van Long, of Warsaw, was yesterday confirmed as chief justice of New Mexico.

William G. Ewing has been nominated by President Cleveland for district attorney at Chicago.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress, 12th District,
HON. ROBERT LOWRY, of Allen.

GENERAL PRENTISS, who was the biggest and the hottest hornet in the horns' nest at Shiloh, says that he intends to tell the story of the Sunday
battle, and that in the telling he shall spare neither friend nor foe. He regrets that Gen. Don Carlos Buell held back until Grant was in his grave
before coming out with the recent account of the part borne by the Army
of the Ohio in the battle.

"The body of a Miami Indian chief has been unearthed at Wabash.
There is one thing nobody ever regrets
—that is, the day they first adopted
Parker's Tonic as their regular family medicine. Its range is so wide, and its
good effects so sure, that nothing else,
except good nursing, are needed in a great majority of cases. Buy it, try it,
and afterwards it will not require any
praise from us.

Several months ago a man at San Francisco was badly burned by an explosion. His limbs, face, and hands
were covered with huge sores which refused to heal. Skin grafting was resorted to, and fully fifty pieces of flesh
from relatives of the sufferer have been grafted. The flesh from the thigh of a live chicken was also grafted successfully. The case is one of the worst ever known in San Francisco, and the result is awaited with interest by physicians.

The lost-ring story comes to hand as usual. This time the scene is laid in Kentucky, where five years ago William Howe, of Moorefield, lost his sister's ring while fishing in a pond.
Not long ago he went shooting bull
frogs in the same pond, and while cutting off the hind legs of a big one that he had shot, what should he see protruding from the mud in the pond but the side of the victim but his sister's long-
lost ring, with the identifying inscription still quite legible.

THAT must have been a pleasant passage of the steamer British Crown,
which arrived in Halifax harbor the other day and immediately hoisted the danger signal. To a reporter who boarded her the captain said: "You are situated immediately over 800 kegs containing eighty tons of the most destructive kind of powder. Yes, I have been a little nervous during the voyage, because in addition to the dangers
from fog and ice I had the largest cargo
of powder ever brought across the Atlantic in a single steamer, one keg of
which would blow the steamer to millions of atoms. The imperial inspectors
insisted on placing the magazine directly under my cabin. Besides the powder, I have a large quantity of shells and other ammunition for the imperial garrison and dockyard here."

HEMORRHAGE OF LUNGS.—Will you
kindly inform me through the columns

Ans.—We have seen such gratifying
results in controlling hemorrhages from nearly every other organ and part of the body, that we do not hesitate to advise
its use to control hemorrhage of the lungs during the time of its occurrence.

sixteen and a half million acres. There are 4,000,000 acres of swamp lands within
the Province, and the remainder consists of the timbered and rocky region
lying around Lake Winnipeg, Manitoba, and the Lake of the Woods. The portion under cultivation is a little over
one million of acres, hitherto chiefly devoted to the cultivation of wheat, and up to the 31st of October the Department of the Interior reported about 10-930,045 acres as having been taken up
within the Province for homesteads and pre-emptions. By a recent arrangement made with the Province, the Dominion Government have ceded to the Province the swamp lands, and 150,000
acres of good lands for University purposes.

There is one thing nobody ever regrets
—that is, the day they first adopted
Parker's Tonic as their regular family
medicine. Its range is so wide, and its
good effects so sure, that nothing else,
except good nursing, are needed in a great majority of cases. Buy it, try it,
and afterwards it will not require any
praise from us.

Is Your Liver out of Order.
Then is your whole system deranged
—the blood is impure, the breath offensive, you have a headache, feel languid,
dispirited and nervous, have no appetite,
your sleep is troubled and unrefreshing.
To prevent a more serious condition, take
at once a half tablespoonful of Simmons
Liver Regulator, three times a day—it will soon restore the healthy action of the liver, bowels and kidneys.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving
the child from pain, and by the pleasant wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain
relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and
is the best known remedy for diarrhoea,
whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

CUSTER'S LAST FIGHT.

HOW THE HERO FELL THIS 25TH OF JUNE TEN YEARS AGO.

Picture of Sitting Bull, the Great Sioux Chief, Who Defeated Custer on the Little Big Horn—His Children—Curly, the General's Scout.

This 25th of June, 1886, it is ten years since the day when brave Gen. Custer and his band of soldiers were massacred on the Little Big Horn river, in Montana. The wild Indian region of ten years ago is a civilized country now. Flocks and herds graze peacefully where brave Custer and his men marched to their death that day. The only bit of real wilderness in all that country is the National Yellowstone park, set apart by government as a "public park or pleasure ground for the benefit of the people."

It is the strangest river in the world, that Yellowstone, down a branch of which heroic Custer marched with his men. It was explored for the first time in 1870-71. When the surveying party came suddenly to a square mile of hot springs they could only stop and wonder. The terrific rift in the mountains, 8,000 feet deep some distance further on, with the rapid river flowing through the bottom, was still more wonderful. It was awful. The ravine is so wonderful that in broad daylight persons looking up from the bottom can see the stars.

George A. Custer was an Ohio man, born in an obscure country village, New Rumley, in Harrison county, near the Pennsylvania border, in 1839. His ancestry was Pennsylvania German, as far back as the revolution. In point of fact he was descended from one of the Hessian officers who fought on the wrong side in the American revolution. There was little of the phlegmatic German temperament in the boy George, however. He was as restless and nervous as a squirrel. He was educated at West Point. A good story is told of him in his senior year, 1861. He was officer of the guard one day, and was put under arrest for not making two cadets cease fighting. He wanted to see which would whip, and was letting the fellows fight it out, when suddenly Gen. Hazen, then a lieutenant, came on the scene. Custer was put under arrest. His class was allowed to go at once to the seat of war, where officers were so much needed, but Custer was not with them. On the contrary, he remained in a guard house at West Point. He was regularly court-martialed on the specification that "he, the said Custer, did fail to suppress a riot or disturbance near the guard tent, and did fail to separate, etc., but, on the contrary, did cry out in a loud voice: 'Stand back, boys, let's have a fair fight,' or words to that effect."

While waiting sentence a telegram came from Washington ordering his release and commanding him to report at Washington for duty. From that on he entered heart and soul into the war. He won fame as a cavalry leader and one promotion after another was accorded him till he who had entered the war as a lieutenant came out a brevet brigadier general.

The war over, he was ordered for service to the far west and became an Indian fighter. The country rang with his name. He was the greatest and best forgotten that even remember now when and where bold Custer was killed. To recall the story to their memory these lines are written.

Of all the red foes our soldiers ten years ago had to meet, Sitting Bull, the Sioux, was the wildest. He considers himself a good Roman Catholic Christian, but one who sees his portrait cannot help fancying that his pious beards and medals and crucifixes were quite as much for ornamentation as for devotion. He has a splendidly strong, though cruel, relentless face. It takes many years to make a good Indian out of such a red man as Sitting Bull. He had a huge head, with hair whose color was brown—very unusual for an Indian. He could neither read nor write, but, strange to say, he kept a journal, which a scout found and brought into the United States army camp. It contained a history of his life, drawn in grotesque Indian pictures. Most of them represented S. B. killing somebody, white or red.

Sitting Bull destroyed Custer and his command on the Little Big Horn river, June 25, 1876. He then fled across the border to British America and annoyed the United States government people six years longer. It was not till 1883 that he finally surrendered. Even then he has always claimed that he himself did not surrender. It was his son Crowfoot, the lively Indian youth who appears in the picture, that at last snatched his father's gun and handed it over to Maj. Brotherton. The boy has some of his father's own grit. His clear cut, strong face shows him to be a chip of the old block. Sitting Bull was rather pleased at his boy's daring, and let the surrender stand. Unlike the Apache Geronimo, Sitting Bull kept his word, and never made the white people any more trouble after giving up.

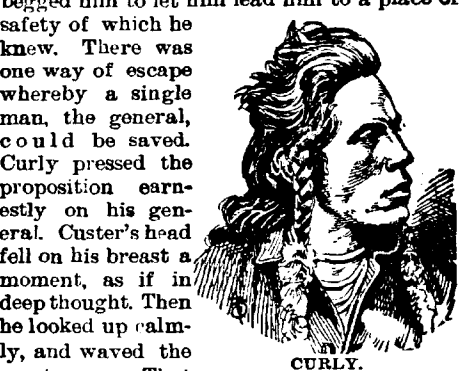

The long braided hair upon each side is a badge of the Sioux. Sitting Bull has a pretty little daughter. This picture of her is from a photograph taken a year ago in Bismarck, Dakota. The little maiden, except for the cruel and merciless strings of wampum in her ears, would be as bright and attractive to look at as any of her small white sisters who learn music and go to Sunday school.

Custer's force was divided into three columns on that fatal day, one commanded by Maj. Reno, another by Col. Benteen, the third by Custer himself. The plan was for these three columns to take different routes converging toward the Indian village on the Little Big Horn. The rest of the story may be told in one sentence. Reno and Benteen failed to come to time, Custer and his men reached the village, fought an overwhelming force of Indians till every man died in his tracks. For a mile or more their bodies were found strung along the banks of the Little Big Horn, just where they fell. The particulars of this last fight are as thrilling as the story of Thermopylae. It ought to be put into the school books for American boys to read and draw inspirations from.

The Indian scout Curly, who tells the story, was the only one with Custer who escaped from the massacre. He had been with the leader several years, and was trusted and faithful. He was a Crow. The fight began at 2 o'clock and lasted till sunset. The white men who fought it knew long ere it closed that it was desperate. As soon as Curly saw this he went to Gen. Custer and begged him to let him lead him to a place of safety of which he knew. There was one way of escape whereby a single man, the general, could be saved. Curly pressed the proposition earnestly on his general. Custer's head fell on his breast a moment, as if in deep thought. Then he looked up calmly, and waved the scout away. That was the last time Curly ever looked on the face of his general alive.

In that moment the dashing, heroic cavalry leader chose between life and death. He fought like a tiger himself before giving up his life. The Indians closed in around him at too close quarters for him to use gun or pistol. Then he snatched his saber. The Indians say that he killed three braves with this saber before he was finally overcome. Then a chief, named Rain-in-the-Face, who had a mortal grudge at the white leader, shot and killed him. Such bravery as he had shown his wild enemies revered as more than mortal. His was the only body they left un mutilated. This proved that they looked on it with superstitious awe. The Indians say there were more of their braves killed than of white men.

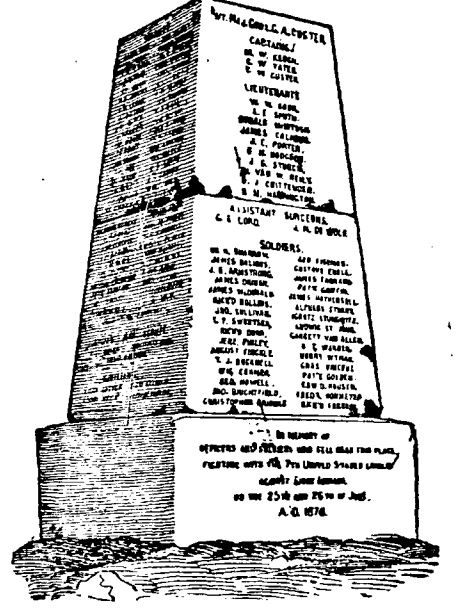

Curly, the Crow scout, escaped alone by the way he had indicated to Custer. He washed his Crow paint off and let his hair down like a Sioux, and thus, undetected, hovered around till the awful fight was over. Then, as much dead as alive with grief and horror, he followed on down the river till he reached the steamboat landing.

CURLY.

THEIR MONUMENT.
It seems that, all the while the five hours' fight was going on, Reno and Benteen were not more than three or four miles away. Reno heard the firing, and knew that his chief was engaged with the enemy.

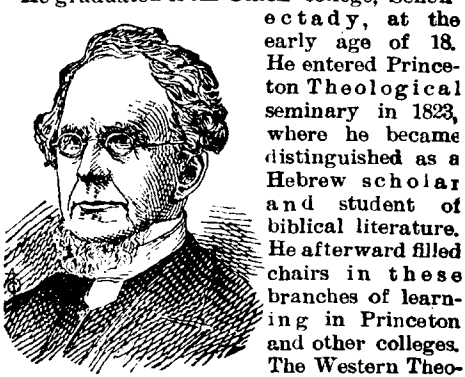

Reno had been even attacked by a portion of the hostile force toward the Custer fight. They came riding like the wind, "crouching over the necks of their fleet little ponies, flinging away with their short whips, firing random bullets in the air, and all the time yelling out their 'Hi-yip-yip-yip-yip-hi-yah!'" The sight seems to have been rather a demoralizing one to Reno and his men.

A monument was erected on the scene of the massacre. The horrible relic hunters are already fast chipping it away. Three Custers, a sister's husband and a beloved, bright-haired brother's nephew, perished of the hapless family that day. Col. Tom Custer and young Boston Custer were the general's brothers. These were all found in a group close together. The monument contains the names of those who fell, the flower of the United States Seventh Cavalry regiment. It is one of the most thrilling stories ever told in any language.

A Celebrated American Theologian.
One of the most celebrated of American divines died recently at his home in Lancaster, Pa., at the age of 83 years. It was the Rev. Dr. John Williamson Nevin. He was a native of Pennsylvania, of Scotch-Irish descent. In early youth he exhibited a strong theological turn of mind, which developed in after years until he became famous as a sturdy champion of Christianity. He graduated from Union college, Schenectady, at the early age of 18. He entered Princeton Theological seminary in 1823, where he became distinguished as a Hebrew scholar and student of biblical literature. He afterward filled chairs in these branches of learning in Princeton and other colleges. The Western Theological seminary, now a power in the west, owes much of its early labors to Dr. Nevin. In 1840 he took a professorship in the Theological seminary of the Reformed Church at Mercersburg, Pa., and was afterward made president of Marshall college at that place. Through the publication of a tract called "The Anxious Bench" Dr. Nevin became, in 1843, involved in a controversy which nearly created a schism in the Reformed Church, and was the beginning of the movement known as the "Mercersburg Theology."

From 1849 to 1853 he edited The Mercersburg Review, and during this time got into a theological controversy with Rev. Orestes R. Bronson, D. D., of Boston, which attracted wide attention at the time. From 1866 to 1876 he was the president of Franklin and Marshall college, after which he retired from public life.

JOHN W. NEVIN, D.D.
Presbyterian churchman, now a power in the west, owes much of its early labors to Dr. Nevin. In 1840 he took a professorship in the Theological seminary of the Reformed Church at Mercersburg, Pa., and was afterward made president of Marshall college at that place. Through the publication of a tract called "The Anxious Bench" Dr. Nevin became, in 1843, involved in a controversy which nearly created a schism in the Reformed Church, and was the beginning of the movement known as the "Mercersburg Theology."

A Glimpse of John Ruskin.
Mr. Ruskin is the very preux chevalier needed for English girlhood, grizzled though his beard may now be. Has he not said somewhere "I would make my body a bridge for the passage of a girl that was pretty and good." His attitude toward his young disciples at Whitelands may be typified in a story Mrs. Severn drew from her memory. "When I was very young," said Mrs. Severn. "I was once walking through a garden with Ruskin, when I observed him to stoop low down and glance sideways at the sky. Wondering at this movement of his, I heard him say: 'Do put your head down here and you will see what I see.' And so I bent down also and saw what he had discovered—the wondrous loveliness of a tree's buds against the sky. It is this seeing for sweetness and light that has given Mr. Ruskin the secrets of power over human nature more than any of his critical theories.—London Standard.

Origin of the Canned Meat Business.
"Chicago now cans more meat than all the rest of the world put together," said a merchant on Michigan avenue, "and manufactures more tin cans than any other city in the world. But the meat-canning business did not start in Chicago, nor in this country, either. It began in Australia. The first canned meats ever put on the market were from Australia, and the meat was mutton for the English army. America caught on to the scheme, and has beaten the foreigners at their own game."—Chicago Herald.

Her neighbors all bemoan her and she goes to the grave with their prayers, tears and sorrow.

Mr. J. Oscar Henderson, the revenue collector for this district, came here last night and appointed Mr. George Ohneck traveling inspector, at a salary of $1,000 a year and three dollars a day for expenses. Mr. Ohneck begins his work July 1st, and will resign his place with a Toledo house. His business is to see that the revenue laws are enforced and that whisky, tobacco beer and such stuff is properly stamped. George deserves the place, as he is one of the best democrats in the state. He is personally popular and a splendid fellow, who will merit every trust.

OUR BOOM.

Harry Hammel Gives the Summit City a Send Off.

The Cincinnati Telegram has this: "Mr. Harry Hammel, wife and son Jay, arrived in this city yesterday from Fort Wayne, Ind., Mr. Hammel's residence Harry is an old Cincinnati boy, and when he stepped out on Vine street at 12 o'clock last night, he threw up both hands and exclaimed: 'A dead town. There was not a man in sight. The waiters in the restaurants are going to sleep, the saloons are closed, the gaming tables are doomed. Why, the way we do it in Fort Wayne is—in the first place we are the banner democratic county, we allow four regular strait faro games to run and the saloons keep open as long as they please. Times are good, lots of building going on, and you won't find a more orderly city in America than Fort Wayne.' Mr. Hammel is a prosperous business man of the city of Fort Wayne."

LANGLEY-MAYHEW.

The Case is Again Handled by the Supreme Court.

The Indiana supreme court has denied a rehearing in the case of Hannah Langley vs. Sarah Mayhew. Judge Niblack penned the opinion. The facts, as found in this case, established a release by the appellant of all claims against her husband's estate, independently of the provisions made for her by his will, and the release so established took this case out of the range of cases which hold that the widow is entitled to an absolute sum out of the personal estate of her husband in addition to any provisions by will. Some of these cases go to an extreme limit as to the rights a widow has to an absolute sum out of her husband's estate. The supreme court would not now follow some of those cases to the extent to which they would lead—notably the cases of Nelson vs. Wilson, 61 Ind., 255, and Whiteman vs. Swen, 75 Ind., 530—but would, in a proper case, accept the testamentary rule of construction laid down by the case of Morrison vs. Bowman, 29 California, 337.

Judge Zollars writes that the supreme court has adjourned for the summer, and there will be no further sitting until September 16. The judges are 850 cases behind the docket, and their vacation will be employed in reviewing those which have been submitted to them.

THE NEW COAL ROAD.

Trains Will Run to Fort Wayne Ere the Snow Flies.

THE SENTINEL has given some space to the new road through the Ohio coal fields, and this special dispatch from Celina, Ohio, to the Cincinnati Enquirer will be of interest: "The new owners of the Dayton and Delphos branch of the Toledo, Cincinnati and St. Louis railroad have changed the name to the Dayton and Chicago. They have secured the right of way from Mercer, this county, to Fort Wayne, Ind. Standard gauge ties are being placed on the track through the county, and the work of laying the third rail will commence in a short time. All the steel necessary to make the road has been contracted for, and the management expect to have the trains running from Dayton to Chicago by way of the Fort Wayne and Nickel Plate before the snow flies."

DEAD BEATS.

The Doctors Have a State Protective Association.

It is stated the physicians of the city have joined a state organization to protect themselves from dead beats. Whenever anyone fails to pay his bill he is reported to headquarters at Indianapolis, and his name, address and occupation printed in the list of dead beats, and sent to every member of the organization, which means every business man in this city, and all over the country so that he cannot get credit any longer until he pays his debts or makes satisfactory settlement with his creditors. The query now arises what protection have the people against dead beat physicians? Reputable practitioners should see that men of that sort are expelled and labeled with the rest.

There is an interval of three weeks between council meetings this time. The legislators assemble as a board of equalization next Monday, however.

A FIGHT!

Enlivens Affairs at Lafayette

And Springs Directly From the Quarrel Between Profs. Smith and Smart, of Purdue.

Civil Service Commissioner Edgerton Explains Why Women Do Not Succeed.

THE WAY TO DO IT.

A Cincinnati Journalist "Does Up" an Ex-Mayor and Editor.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 29.—W. R. Story, of the Cincinnati Graphic, who has been here for weeks illustrating for that journal most beautifully whipped and did up Col. F. E. D. McGinley, ex-mayor of our city, and editor of the Sunday Morning Times, Col. W. McGinley began abusing Story at the Brumbe house, and followed him up cursing him, when Story turned on him and dressed the colonel down most genteely. The fuss grew out of what Story is alleged to have said to Professor Smith about President Smart's being the author of a publication in the Times of a certain communication on the Purdue University trouble.

President Smart treats the controversy with contempt and the trustees of Purdue university, to whom Professor E. E. Smith appealed for an investigation as to the reasons for his removal from the faculty, have notified him that they will not accede to his request. The trustees say that "it is proper to state that the board did not act upon charges, and that no charges were made against you, and no criticisms have ever been made in the presence of the board, or either of us, concerning your private character or ability. We thus concede in this statement all the benefit that could possibly accrue to you by an investigation, and hence such a procedure becomes unnecessary." Professor McGinley Anderson, of Galesburg, Ill., has been appointed to succeed Professor Smith.

NO SHOW FOR WOMEN.

Civil Service Commissioner Edgerton Explains Why More Are Not Appointed.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—"There are ten men sent for, for clerkships, to one woman," said Civil Service Commissioner Edgerton to-day. "In some of the departments absolutely no requisitions come to us for women, and very few are demanded anywhere. The result is that women stand almost no show at all to be appointed. A lady was appointed in the postoffice department from New York yesterday. Her standing was very high in every branch. In arithmetic it was 100; yet her name had been on our lists for a long time. Men readily get positions whose standing is no more than 90 per cent. on an average.

"How do you account for this state of things?" was asked.

"Oh, there is no real reason for it. It is more a matter of prejudice than anything else. Some chief of bureau or other officer has an incompetent woman sometime, or some woman that is troublesome, and so he will not try another. Then there is a feeling in certain quarters that if one happens to get an incompetent woman she is hard to get rid of; that she will bring influences to bear, and will perhaps shed tears. Then it is a little hard to tell a woman that she is unsatisfactory. The chiefs feel that a man will understand and take it as a man, but a woman will make a fuss; then, strange enough, there is a vast army of men pushing all the while for the small places that women usually get, and so, taking it in all, they stand a poor chance."

Whenever the slander is found, there humanity is arrayed against itself, and there the honey and the balm of life are turned to gall and nettles.

JUDGE DAVID DAVIS.

His Imposing Funeral this Afternoon.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., June 29.—Obsequies of the late David Davis occurred this afternoon. The services were arranged by the family in accord with the quiet, modest tastes of the deceased. Nevertheless so general was the mourning and so universal the desire to accord to the distinguished dead the last honors, the funeral assumed imposing proportions. The city is thronged with people and business is practically suspended. A special train brought Governor Oglesby and staff and 100 lawyers from Springfield, Decatur and Clinton.

There were many beautiful offerings for the casket, including a combination of feather palms from Mrs. Justice Hunt and a basket from the children of the state soldiers' orphan home. At 3 o'clock the services were held at the house. The officiating clergyman was Rev. W. G. Pierce, a relative of the family. The procession which followed the remains to the grave was of unusual length.

YACHT RACE.

The Sloops Have Another Contest.

Boston, June 29.—The Eastern yacht club regatta comes off at Marblehead to-day. The sky is cloudless and a good fresh wind is blowing from the west.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., June 29.—The yachts started at 12:20 p. m. The Priscilla crossed the line first, Fortuna second, Mayflower third and Puritan fourth. There is a very stiff breeze blowing from the west.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., June 29.—The Puritan won the yacht race by five minutes; Priscilla, second; May Flower, third.

PROHIBITION

Defeated by a Large Majority in Washington Territory.

CHICAGO, June 29.—A dispatch from Seattle, W. T., says that elections were held yesterday throughout the territory under the local option law with a large vote. Prohibition was defeated in Seattle by a majority of 1,030. All the larger towns in the territory except LaCrosse, Chehalis and Centralia give heavy majorities against prohibition.

ON GUARD.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 29.—The Prince Edward's Island department of the fisheries has ordered three government vessels to watch the fisheries there. The Courad, Terror and Critia have been detailed for this service. The steamer Lansdowne will also be sent to the same post.

A RASCAL CAUGHT.

An Ex-Postmaster Arrested for Embezzlement and Theft.

Deputy Marshal Jim Wilkinson came in last night after a drive of sixty miles, with his gun in the person of Henry J. Yoder, ex postmaster at Chalm, Elkhart county. Yoder is charged with embezzling $12.50 in cash, and $26.90 in stamps, about the time a change was made in the office up there. His successor, one Ellis, was also relieved shortly after his appointment and lives at Goslen under a cloud, as Yoder claims he gave him the money and stamps, but got no receipt. Yoder will have a trial at 2 o'clock, if District Attorney Lamb gets here as he promises he will.

A SMASHUP.

A Nickel Plate Freight and Gravel Train Embrace Each Other.

Just west of the city, near the Brookside farm, occurred a disastrous collision this morning. Engineer M. Gorham pulled the Nickel Plate gravel train west, believing that the morning freight train had passed. He proceeded but a short distance, however, when the carrier came around the curve and smashed into the gravel train on the incline there. Engineer W. P. Morris of the freight, leaped for his life, and the fireman and other engineer followed suit. The engines and a dozen cars were smashed, and a damage of $2,500 was entailed by the embrace of the iron monsters.

NANTUCKET OUT OF SEASON.

A Trip to the Cod Fishery—Claims for Bait—Amid the Breakers.

In May the cod fishermen are in possession, and it was to have a view of the fishery that we drove out. On the wide beach under the bluff, perhaps a score of narrow, sharp pointed dories were drawn up. Four more we saw rising and falling on the swells outside the line of breakers. "They are coming," said our friend as he hastened down to view the operation. A horse attached to a fish cart stood on the sand where a dozen bronzed and sturdy fishermen were watching the incoming boats.

Codfish strike in here between the middle and last of April, the pollock a little later. They are caught with hook and line, though on the south shore some trawls are set. The bait used is the long clam, which has to be brought from Tuckermuck and Muskeget islands, which lie to the westward of Nantucket. Gathering them forms the business of quite a number of the toilers who build little shanties on the islands and live there for days, digging clams between tides. By the time we have learned this the foremost boat has reached the breakers, and we watch anxiously to see how the boatman would get through without being swamped. Both skill and strength are required to effect this.

The orsman balanced his boat on the swells just outside the line of breakers and waited till the biggest of the "three brothers" came towering on, when he rode triumphantly in on its crest, being carried far up the strand where his waiting fellows seized the boat and ran it up beyond the reach of succeeding waves. The second and third did equally well, but the fourth miscalculated, and the prow of his boat dashed into the sand and was held in the midst of the surf. In a moment the succeeding wave pounded upon it, filled it and swept man, boat, fish and oars far up the beach. The man, however, gathered up the scattered cargo, emptied the dory by turning her over, and soon had her out of the waves' reach. Sometimes, in coming through the surf, the boats are thrown end over end.

The dories contain from twenty to thirty large cod and pollock, with an occasional ugly skate or big-mouthed sculpin. The cart is backed down to the boats, the cod and pollock are thrown in and carted to the cleaning and pickling room where, after being dressed and salted, they are dried on flakes in the sun, and marketed. Very little fresh fish is exported from the island, but the cured fish has the highest reputation of any in the market.—Cor. Detroit Free Press.

Description of the "Riot Gun."

When a Chicago dispatch saying that Inspector Bonfield had "received a sample riot gun" from a Connecticut firm was read by a Broadway gun dealer he said:

"It is a repeating shot-gun recently invented, and is a very good weapon for the purpose. A short steel tube under the barrel holds six cartridges loaded with buckshot or any other size of shot. A small cylinder just right to take hold of with the hand is slipped over the cartridge tube, a steel rod running from it to the mechanism of the gun's breech. By sliding this grip piece along the cartridge tube and back to its place again a discharged shell is thrown out, a fresh cartridge inserted, and the gun cocked. Each cartridge holds an ounce and a quarter of buckshot. The six cartridges can be fired six times in three seconds. They are now in use by the express companies and postoffice agents in the west where road agents abound, and not equaled by any weapon for demoralizing a gang of evil doers."

A Revolution in Gas-Lighting.

An invention which, it is claimed by gas engineers, will revolutionize the present system of gas-lighting has just been perfected by Dr. Auer in the chemical laboratory of the Vienna university. Briefly described, the invention may be said to consist in rendering a cotton wick incombustible by impregnating it with a metallic liquid. Thus treated the wick, instead of burning, merely glows, emitting a radiance not unlike that of the electric light. The whole process is very simple, and the great advantage of the invention is that it may be applied to any gas-burner.—Chicago News.

A telegram was sent out from Toledo Saturday, on the authority of W. J. Craig, to the effect that he had purchased the Indianapolis Sentinel and would take possession July 1.

They Run Out of All the Chicago Yards Under Guard of Pinkerton Detectives.

A Small Fight Between Union and Non Union Men—Other Labor News.

OPERATIONS

Resumed by the Lake Shore Company This Morning.

CHICAGO, June 29.—The Lake Shore Railroad company began operations at 8 o'clock this morning, 250 police and Pinkerton men, the latter armed as on yesterday, with Winchester rifles, taking possession of the Forty-third street switching yards. By 9 o'clock two long freight trains had been made up and started south, strongly guarded, but met no molestation. At 10 o'clock a Pinkerton squad accompanied a switch engine to the Union stock yards to get a train of live stock.

A SMALL FIGHT.

CHICAGO, June 29.—A hand to hand combat occurred this morning between some union and non-union men, at the new Jacobs building. The non-unionists, fourteen in number, have been at work for the last few days finishing odd jobs. The unionists held a meeting last night, and determined to put their enemies to flight. They accordingly appeared on the scene this morning with clubs and stones, and succeeded in frightening the non-union men, but they were driven away by the police before anything serious occurred. One of the rioters, named Boncer, was arrested and when brought before Justice Scully, he was fined $25.00.

At noon trains were being made up at the Forty-third street and Englewood yards and sent out as usual. Each train was guarded by ten or twelve Pinkerton men who were armed with Winchester. A freight train was made up at the stock yards during the forenoon and sent east without interference.

ANOTHER ATTACK.

CHICAGO, June 29.—Another savage assault on non-union carpenters occurred this forenoon at Jefferson, northwest of the city. A squad of union men invaded a house where five men were working and handled all roughly, a workman named McKean, sixty-five years old, being seriously injured. During the affray a contractor named Ballargeon was struck with a sharp implement and his right ear severed from his head.

NAIL FACTORY

To Resume Work Under the new Scale of Prices.

PERRISBURG, June 29.—Jones & Laughlin's nail factory will be put in operation to-day, after being idle thirteen months. This is the first factory started under the scale arranged by the Amalgamated association last Friday. They will employ about twenty nailers and sixty-five feeders, besides helters, rollers and packers.

The window glass factories of the country will shut down to-morrow night, that being the date framed for the regular summer suspension.

HE IS ELOQUENT.

Gladstone's Appeal for Home Rule.

LONDON, June 29.—Mr. Gladstone in the course of his speech at Liverpool yesterday, said: "I entreat you to resolve that the civilized world shall no longer assert that Ireland is England's Poland and to determine that England shall no longer have a Poland. She has had it long enough. Listen to prudence, courage and honor. Ring out the old, ring in the new. Ring out the notes of memory and discord. Ring in the blessed reign of a time of peace."

Chairman Huston, of the republican state central committee, reports that the state convention will not be held prior to August 25, the general sentiment of the state favoring that date. Meanwhile the committee will employ the interval in deluging the out districts with campaign literature, and in perfecting local organizations.

Mrs. Minnie Bachman, by her attorneys, Chase & Finkle, commenced suit in the Logansport circuit court yesterday against the St. Jacob's German Lutheran church, the pastor, John J. Jox, Henry Brookmyer sr., William Peters and Henry Paul to restrain them from ringing the Lutheran church bells. She has a sick daughter and aged father to base her objection on.

The sham battle to be given at Lafayette, Ind., July 31, during the encampment of the Indiana Legion and visiting companies, will be upon a scale never before attempted at a similar gathering in the state, and will exhibit the action and movements of troops under actual fire, with such a realistic effect that the onlookers will see war itself, save the actual flow of blood and consequent sacrifice of life.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Davis, of Goshen, gave their two-year old child chewing gum to keep it quiet. The child swallowed the gum, and was inexplicably sick for several days. It was seemingly very hungry, yet could not swallow. While suffering from a severe spell of vomiting the child expelled a large piece of chewing gum, and from that time the sickness passed away.

Professors Campbell and Conlter, of Wabash college, have camped out near Charlesdown lake for the purpose of resuming their work on the geodetic survey now being made through the state of Indiana. Professor Campbell has had charge of the work for several years but only works in vacation. This survey is made to get an accurate measurement of the state's area, allowances being made for the curvature of the earth's surface.

The collections taken up at the Jones-Small meetings at Indianapolis amounted to $1,800 in round numbers. Of this Messrs. Jones and Small were paid $1,025, besides the board for themselves and associates at the Bates house, which amounted to $320. The hall rent was $375, and incidental expenses consumed the remainder.

District Attorney Lamb came back to Indianapolis from Terre Haute to-day. At the primaries there on Saturday all the delegates were elected who were for him for congress. He has carried every county in the district at the primaries except Vermillion, which has a candidate of its own, Judge Jump, although it is possible he will not go before the convention. Mr. Lamb is sure of the nomination, and is altogether sanguine that he will be elected.

In the house, Mr. Glover, of Missouri, moved to discharge the committee of investigation appointed under his resolution to inquire into the case against Lancaster, of Missouri.

Mr. Lowry opposed the motion and said Mr. Glover, in conversation, said he wanted the investigation to proceed.

The motion to discharge the committee was lost.

The report of the conference committee on the pension appropriation bill was agreed to.

The president has approved the act to legalize the corporation of national trades unions, the act granting a franking privilege to Julia D. Grant, an act to remove the political disabilities of J. G. DEMOCRATIC TICKET.
For Congress, 12th District,
HON. ROBERT LOWRY, of Allen.

GENERAL PHENIX, who was the biggest and the hottest hornet in the hornet's nest at Shiloh, says that he intends to tell the story of the Sunday
battle, and that in the telling he shall
spare neither friend nor foe. He responds to Gen. Don Carlos Buell
held back until Grant was in his grave
before coming out with the recent account of the part borne by the Army
of the Ohio in the battle.

Several months ago a man at San Francisco was badly burned by an explosion. His limbs, face, and hands
were covered with huge sores which refused to heal. Skin grafting was resorted to, and fully fifty pieces of flesh
from relatives of the sufferer have been grafted. The flesh from the thigh of a live chicken was also grafted successfully. The case is one of the worst
ever known in San Francisco, and the result is awaited with interest by physicians.

The lost-ring story comes to hand as usual. This time the same is laid in Kentucky, where five years ago William Howe, of Moorefield, lost his
sister's ring while fishing in a pond.
Not long ago he went shooting bull
frogs in the same pond, and while cutting off the hind legs of a big one that
he had shot, what should he see protruding from the mud in the pond in the side of the victim but his sister's long-
lost ring, with the identifying inscription still quite legible.

That must have been a pleasant passage of the steamer British Crown,
which arrived in Halifax harbor the
other day and immediately hoisted the danger signal. To a reporter who
boarded her the captain said: "You are situated immediately over 800 legs
containing eighty tons of the most destructive kind of powder. Yes, I have been a little nervous during the voy-
age, because in addition to the dangers
from fog and ice I had the largest cargo
of powder ever brought across the Atlantic in a single steamer, one keg of
which would blow the steamer to millions of atoms. The imperial inspectors
insisted on placing the magazine directly under my cabin. Besides the powder, I have a large quantity of
shells and other ammunition for the
imperial garrison and dockyard here."

The captain says he steamed through 300 miles of fog which never once lifted.

HEMORRHAGE OF LUNGS.—Will you
kindly inform me through the columns
of your very excellent journal, if you consider POND'S EXTRACT useful in hemorrhage of the lungs, as it has been recommended to me by a friend?—A Subscriber.

Ans.—We have seen such gratifying
results in controlling hemorrhages from
nearly every other organ and part of the
body, that we do not hesitate to advise
its use to control hemorrhage of the
lungs during the time of its occurrence.

tions and Scrophulous Diseases.
Dr. Ira M. Lano.—A prominent physician in New York says:—I am greatly pleased with your Emulsion. I have found it very serviceable in above diseases, and it is easily administered on account of its palatableness.

Of the 66,000,000 acres which comprise the Canadian Province of Manitoba, there have been surveyed about sixteen and a half million acres. There are 1,000,000 acres of swamp lands within
the Province, and the remainder consists of the timbered and rocky region
lying around Lake Winnipeg, Manitoba, and the Lake of the Woods. The
portion under cultivation is a little over
one million of acres, hitherto chiefly
devoted to the cultivation of wheat, and
up to the 31st of October the Department of the Interior reported about 10,
930,045 acres as having been taken up
within the Province for homesteads and
pre-emptions. By a recent arrangement made with the Province, the Dominion Government have ceded to the Province the swamp lands, and 150,000
acres of good lands for University purposes.

There is one thing nobody ever regrets
—that is, the day they first adopted
Parker's Tonic as their regular family
medicine. Its range is so wide, and its
good effects so sure, that nothing else,
except good nursing, are needed in a great majority of cases. Buy it, try it,
and afterwards it will not require any
praise from us.

Then is your whole system deranged
—the blood is impure, the breath offensive, you have a headache, feel languid,
dispirited and nervous, have no appetite,
your sleep is troubled and unrefreshing.
To prevent a more serious condition, take
at once a half tablespoonful of Simmons
Liver Regulator, three times a day—it
will soon restore the healthy action of the
liver, bowels and kidneys.
I recommend Simmons Liver Regulator to all my friends, as I have personally known it to cure all liver disorders and sick headache. A. MENKIN,

Hay Fever and Rose Cold
Are attended by an inflamed condition of the lining membrane of the nostrils, tear ducts and throat, affecting the lungs. An acrid mucus is secreted, the discharge is accompanied with a burning sensation. There are severe spasms of sneezing, frequent attacks of headache, watery and inflamed eyes. Tily's Cream Balm is a remedy that can be depended upon. 50 cents at all druggists; by mail,

ADVISE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used
when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving
the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the
child, softens the gums, allays all pain
relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and
is the best known remedy for diarrhoea,
whether arising from teething or other
causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Do You Want Good Digestion?
I suffered intensely with Full Stomach, Headache, etc., a neighbor who had taken Simmons Liver Regulator, told me it was a sure cure for my trouble. The first dose I took relieved me very much, and in one week I was as strong and hearty as ever. It is the best medicine
I ever took for Biliousness.

Have You Malaria?
I have had experience with Simmons Liver Regu-

CUSTER'S LAST FIGHT.

HOW THE HERO FELL THIS 25TH OF JUNE TEN YEARS AGO.

Picture of Sitting Bull, the Great Sioux Chief, Who Defeated Custer on the Little Big Horn River—His Children—Curly, the General's Scout.

This 25th of June, 1880, it is ten years since the day when brave Gen. Custer and his band of soldiers were massacred on the Little Big Horn river, in Montana. The wild Indian region of ten years ago is a civilized country now. Flocks and herds graze peacefully where brave Custer and his men marched to their death that day. The only bit of real wilderness in all that country is the National Yellowstone park, set apart by government as a "public park or pleasure ground for the benefit of the people."

It is the strangest river in the world, that Yellowstone, down a branch of which heroic Custer marched with his men. It was explored for the first time in 1870-71. When the surveying party came suddenly to a square mile of hot springs they could only stop and wonder. The terrific rift in the mountains, 8,000 feet deep some distance further on, with the rapid river flowing through the bottom, was still more wonderful. It was awful. The ravine is so unusual that in broad daylight persons looking up from the bottom can see the stars.

George A. Custer was an Ohio man, born in an obscure country village, New Rumley, in Harrison county, near the Pennsylvania border, in 1839. His ancestry was Pennsylvania German, as far back as the revolution. In point of fact he was descended from one of the Hessian officers who fought on the wrong side in the American revolution. There was little of the phlegmatic German temperament in the boy George, however. He was as restless and nervous as a squirrel. He was educated at West Point. A good story is told of him in his senior year, 1861. He was officer of the guard one day, and was put under arrest for not making two cadets cross fighting. He wanted to see which would whip, and was letting the fellows fight it out, when suddenly Gen. Hazen, then a lieutenant, came on the scene. Custer was put under arrest. His class was allowed to go at once to the seat of war, where officers were so much needed, but Custer was not with them. On the contrary, he remained in a guard house at West Point. He was regularly court-martialed on the specification that "he, the said Custer, did fail to suppress a riot or disturbances near the guard tent, and did fail to separate, etc., but, on the contrary, did cry out in a loud tone of voice: 'Stand back, boys, let's have a fight,' or words to that effect."

While waiting sentence a telegram came from Washington ordering his release and commanding him to report at Washington for duty. From that on he entered heart and soul into the war. He won fame as a cavalry leader, and one promotion after another was accorded him till he who had entered the war as a lieutenant came out as a brevet brigadier general.

The war over, he was ordered for service to the far west and became an Indian fighter. The country rang with his praises. His lamented death made an impression only second to that caused by the murder of a president. Yet so soon were even the greatest and best forgotten that few even remember now what and where bold Custer was killed. To recall the story to their memory these lines are written.

Of all the red men our soldiers ten years ago had to meet, Sitting Bull, the Sioux, was the wildest. He considers himself a good Roman Catholic Christian, but one who sees his priests and monks and considers them as much for amusement as for devotion. He has a splendid strength, though brutal, relentless, and cruel.

It takes many years to make a good Indian out of such a red man as Sitting Bull. He had a huge head, with hair whose color was brown—very unusual for an Indian. He could neither read nor write, but, strange to say, he kept a journal, which a scout found and brought into the United States army camp. It contained a history of his life, drawn in grotesque Indian pictures. Most of them represented S. B. killing somebody, white or red.

Sitting Bull destroyed Custer and his command on the Little Big Horn river, June 25, 1876. He then fled across the border to British America and annoyed the United States government people six years longer. He was not till 1882 that he finally surrendered. Even then he has always claimed that he himself did not surrender. It was his son Crowfoot, the lively Indian youth who appears in the picture, that at last smothered his father's gun and handed it over to Maj. Brotherton. The boy has some of his father's own grit. His clear, strong face shows him to be a clip of the old blood. Sitting Bull was rather pleased at his boy's daring, and let the surveyor stand. Unlike the Apache Geronimo, Sitting Bull kept his word, and never made the white people any more trouble after giving up.

The long braided hair upon each side is a badge of the Sioux. Sitting Bull has a pretty little daughter. This picture of her is from a photograph taken a year ago in Bismarck, Dakota. The little maiden, except for the cruel and merciless strings of wampum in her ears, would be as bright and attractive to look at as any of her small white sisters who learn music and go to Sunday school.

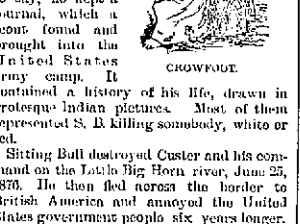

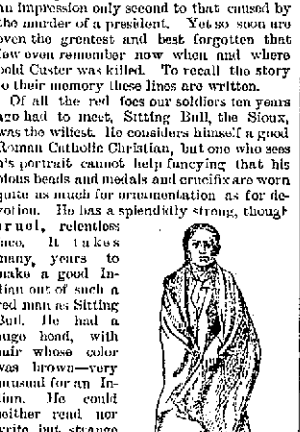

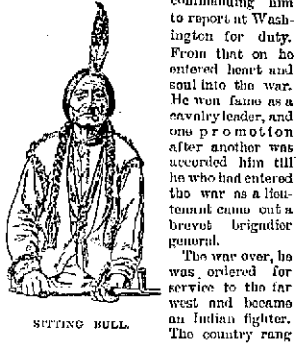

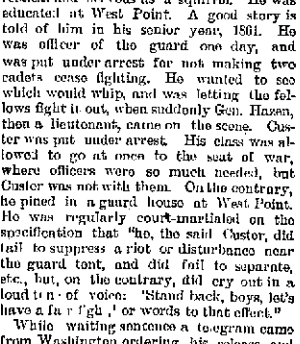

Custer's force was divided into three columns on that fatal day, one commanded by Maj. Reno, another by Col. Benteen, the third by Custer himself. The plan was for these three columns to take different routes converging toward the Indian village on the Little Big Horn. The rest of the story may be told in one sentence. Reno and Benteen failed to come to him, Custer and his men reached the village, fought an overwhelming force of Indians till every man died in his tracks. For a mile or more their bodies were found strung along the banks of the Little Big Horn, just where they fell. The particulars of this last fight are as thrilling as the story of Thermopylae. It ought to be put into the school books for American boys to read and draw inspirations from.

The Indian scout Curly, who tells the story, was the only one with Custer who escaped from the massacre. He had been with the leader several years, and was trusted and faithful. He was a Crow. The fight began at 2 o'clock and lasted till sunset. The white men who fought it knew long ago it was a desperate one. As soon as Curly saw this he went to Gen. Custer and begged him to let him lead him to a place of safety of which he knew. There was one way of escape whereby a single man, the general, could be saved. Curly proposed the proposition earnestly on his general. Custer's hand fell on his breast a moment, as if in thought. Then he looked up calmly, and waved the scout away. That was the last time Curly ever looked on the face of his general alive.

In that moment the dashing, heroic cavalry leader chose between life and death. He fought like a tiger himself before giving up his life.

The Indians closed in around him at too close quarters for him to use gun or pistol. Then he watched his sabre. The Indians say that he killed three braves with his sabre before he was finally overcome. Then a chief, named Hain-in-the-face, who had a mortal grudge at the white leader, shot and killed him. Such bravery as he had shown his wild enemies overcame as more than mortal. His was the only body they left unutilized. This proved that they looked on it with superstitious awe. The Indians say there were more of their braves killed than of white men.

Curly, the Crow scout, escaped alone by the way he had indicated to Custer. He washed his Crow paint off and let his hair down like a Sioux, and thus, undetected, hovered around till the awful fight was over. Then, as much dead as alive with grief and horror, he followed on down the river till he reached the steamboat landing.

FAREWELL TOUR—BARNUM'S ADIEU TO HIS AMERICAN PATRONS:

Mr. Barnum is the very proudest cavalier needed for English girlhood, grizzled though his beard may now be, thus he not said somewhere "I would make my body a bridge for the passage of a girl that was pretty and good." His attitude toward his young disciples at Whitehall may be typified in a story Mrs. Severn drew from her memory. "When I was very young," said Mrs. Severn, "I was once walking through a garden with Barnum, when I observed him to stoop low down and glance sideways at the sky. Wondering at this movement of his, I heard him say: 'Do put your head down here and you will see what I see.' And so I bent down also and saw what he had discovered—the wondrous loveliness of a tree's buds against the sky. It is this seeing for sweetness and light that has given Mr. Barnum the secrets of power over human nature more than any of his critical theories."—London Standard.

Origin of the Canned Meat Business. "The Chicago now runs more meat than all the rest of the world put together," said a merchant on Michigan avenue, "and manufactures more tin cans than any other city in the world. But the meat-canning business did not start in Chicago, nor in this country, either. It began in Australia. The first canned meats ever put on the market were from Australia, and the meat was mutton for the English army. America caught on to the scheme, and has beaten the foreigners at their own game."—Chicago Herald.

Mura's sword handle, set with precious stones and gold, was sold in London the other day for 250 pounds sterling.

WHY IS IT

That the sale of Hood's Sarsaparilla continues at such a rapidly increasing rate? It is—

1st. Because of the positive curative value of Hood's Sarsaparilla itself.

2d. Because of the conclusive evidence of remarkable cures effected by it, unsurpassed and seldom equaled by any other medicine. Send to C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass., for book containing many statements of cures.

THEIR MONUMENT.

It seems that, all the while the five hours' fight was going on, Reno and Benteen were not more than three or four miles away. Reno heard the firing, and knew that his chief was engaged with the enemy. Reno had been even attacked by a portion of the hostiles flying toward the Custer fight. They came riding like the wind, "crocheting over the necks of their fleet little ponies, flinging away with their short whips, firing random bullets in the air, and all the time yelling out their 'Hi-yip-yip-yip-yip-hi-yip-hi-yip'." The sight seems to have been rather a demoralizing one to Reno and his men.

A monument was erected on the scene of the massacre. The horrible relic hunters are already fast chipping it away. "Three Custers, a sister's husband and a beloved, bright-haired schoolboy nephew, perished of the hapless family that day. Col. Tom Custer and young Boston Custer were the general's brothers. These were all found in a group close together. The monument contains the names of those who fell, the flower of the United States Seventh Cavalry regiment. It is one of the most thrilling stories ever told in any language.

A Celebrated American Theologian.

One of the most celebrated of American divines died recently at his home in Lancaster, Pa., at the age of 83 years. It was the Rev. Dr. John Williamson Nevins. He was a native of Pennsylvania, of Scotch-Irish descent. In early youth he exhibited a strong theological turn of mind, which developed in after years until he became famous as a sturdy champion of Christianity. He graduated from Union college, Schenectady, at the early age of 18. He entered Princeton Theological seminary in 1823, where he became distinguished as a Hebrew scholar and student of biblical literature. He afterward filled chairs in these branches of learning in Princeton and other colleges. The Western Theological seminary, now a power in the Presbyterian church, owes much of its prosperity to the early labors of Dr. Nevins. In 1840 he took a professorship in the Theological seminary of the Reformed Church at Mercersburg, Pa., and was afterward made president of Marshall college at that place. Through the publication of a tract called "The Anxious Bench," Dr. Nevins became, in 1843, involved in a controversy which nearly created a schism in the Reformed Church, and was the beginning of the movement known as the "Mercersburg Theology." From 1849 to 1853 he edited The Mercersburg Review, and during this time got into a theological controversy with Rev. Orrestes B. Benson, D. D., of Boston, which attracted wide attention at the time. From 1856 to 1876 he was the president of Franklin and Marshall college, after which he retired from public life.

Frank Dikine wants Captain J. B. White styled "Sugar Jim" for campaign effect, at least so he writes the Warsaw Times, citing "Calico" Charley Foster as an example. Mr. White has a bill before congress that may have a thing or two to do about fixing his title, and it is not sugar-coated.

The state board of equalization yesterday heard the statements of Wm. Parry, of the Cincinnati, Richmond & Fort Wayne. ## OUR BOOM.

Harry Hammel Gives the Summit City a Send Off.

The Cincinnati Telegram has this: "Mr. Harry Hammel, wife and son Jay, arrived in this city yesterday from Fort Wayne, Ind., Mr. Hammel's residence Harry is an old Cincinnati boy, and when he stepped out on Vine street at 12 o'clock last night, he threw up both hands and exclaimed: 'A dead town. There was not a man in sight. The writers in the restaurants are going to sleep, the saloons are closed, the gaming tables are doomed. Why, the way we do it in Fort Wayne is—in the first place we are the banner democratic county, we allow four regular strait faro games to run and the saloons keep open as long as they please. Times are good, lots of building going on, and you won't find a more orderly city in America than Fort Wayne.' Mr. Hammel is a prosperous business man of the city of Fort Wayne."

LANGLEY-MAYHEW.

The Case is Again Handled by the Supreme Court.

The Indiana supreme court has denied a rehearing in the case of Hannah Langley vs. Sarah Mayhew. Judge Niblack penned the opinion. The facts, as found in this case, established a release by the appellant of all claims against her husband's estate, independently of the provisions made for her by his will, and the release so established took this case out of the range of cases which hold that the widow is entitled to an absolute sum out of the personal estate of her husband in addition to any provisions by will. Some of these cases go to an extreme limit as to the rights a widow has to an absolute sum out of her husband's estate. The supreme court would not now follow some of these cases to the extent to which they would lead—notably the cases of Nelson vs. Swen, 61 Ind., 255, and Whitman vs. Swen, 75 Ind., 530—but would, in a proper case, accept the testamentary rule of construction laid down by the case of Morrison vs. Bowman, 29 California, 337.

Judge Zollars writes that the supreme court has adjourned for the summer, and there will be no further sitting until September 16. The judges are 850 cases behind the docket, and their vacation will be employed in reviewing those which have been submitted to them.

They have secured the right of way from Mercer, this county, to Fort Wayne, Ind. Standard gauge ties are being placed on the track through the county, and the work of laying the third rail will commence in a short time. All the steel necessary to make the road has been contracted for, and the management expect to have the trains running from Dayton to Chicago by way of the Fort Wayne and Nickel Plate before the snow flies."

DEAD BEATS.

The Doctors Have a State Protective Association.

It is stated the physicians of the city have joined a state organization to protect themselves from dead beats. Whenever anyone fails to pay his bill he is reported to headquarters at Indianapolis, and his name, address and occupation printed in the list of dead beats, and sent to every member of the organization, which means every business man in this city, and all over the country so that he cannot get credit any longer until he pays his debts or makes satisfactory settlement with his creditors. The query now arises what protection have the people against dead beat physicians? Reputable practitioners should see that men of that sort are expelled and labeled with the rest.
